THE ENDING OF LOVE

They came and ripped my bones
And then they ate my heart
Our dream was lost in silence
Our happiness was phony

The scents of human shreds
The spark they stole from ourselves
Our home is empty and hollow
And what remains is a cold void

All our lives were on the run
Like deranged neutrons
Let's go back to another star
In the ending of love

Someone wretched our shine
No one cared when you got blind
Stop them, or they'll destroy you
My caveat could be your truth.

All our lives were on the run
Like deranged neutrons
Let's go find another star
In the ending of love

WAVES

Early morning, the wizard called. He said the miracle was gone
And yet I witnessed the stunning blaze

It was the dark spring, a heinous glimmer of our waves

Here comes the tourist from the grave, all the artists of our fate
You heard the omen/you watched the portrait

It was the dark spring, a heinous glimmer of our waves

And they relished with the dazzling sky, and our gods were laughing, too
They killed the light with a treacherous kiss.

It was the dark spring, a heinous glimmer of our waves

REPTILE

And a creature brought light to your gloomy cave
It looked like a dolphin, the perfect disguise to your broken eyes.

A reptile came tonight. A reptile kissed my heart.
A reptile came tonight. A reptile ate my heart.

For centuries you rottened in darkness and confusion.
But it dropped by again, this time as itself.

A reptile came tonight. A reptile kissed my heart.
A reptile came tonight. A reptile ate my heart.

You returned to your pitch-black cave. Was it all a bad dream? Was it all a nightmare? Then it saw you, satiated and smirking while you drown in this void, in this endless hole, but for how long? Just stop! Why me?

NEUROTIC RAIN

Quarks will blow our shell
Take us far away where our story began
We might find some truths
The answers to our deranged existence

They have morphed our times
And longed our minds
We drifted through dark stars
Wings of vital dreams
We loved these sins
In our time as angels

Tear your emotions now
Before it's late
I know you still have a voice
When the darkness comes
The crypt will explode
Our sun will laugh no more

The scars of pleasure flights
Again your rage
Again your holding my heart
When the corpses rise
Above the Sky
In Neurotic Rain

Try to catch the sun
To heal your hate
You're immortal and lost in time
Craves, the people's fears
The way they feel in another silk
The show will do the rest

As you grab my hand, as we're lost in time
Quakes will smash our shell
Will let us stay in Neurotic rains

DARLENA

Send the torture away from me, from us.
Grab the splendor, grab the sweet daydream again
All our story's grafted on a shroud
All your letters are soaring around

Tearing, shredding, nothing else remains
Derelict house, a wrecked passion expands away
All our wishes linger until you arrive
All your senses refuse to strive

All our story is buried in your black hole
All your letters are fading off

Darlena

CAVERN

Strange years were singing our flame has consequences destroying our wings
Did they expect us to weep?

When the tides were calmer the wicked mermaid shook the sea when our nature was thriving the mocking angel wiped out our reveries

All the senses in a capsule
All the elation in a cavern
Who's forgiving our failures
When there's no one who can think?

All the senses in a capsule
All the kindness in a cavern
Who's forgiving our baloney when there's no one else who can feel?
Where are the people who used to think?

SERENDIPITY

The Sun will turn me down.
He knows my fusion is weird
My rage will outshine his core
I've always drifted tore in your world

The enemy is time
This kid will set a riot
Your heart won't see the signs
You've always lived lost in your mind

CYNIC

All is perfect since you're a cynic.
You're writing the law, you're shaping our thoughts
All is great since you're a winner.
It feels so right, like owning the stars.

Nothing stops you when you're battling for love and peace, for all our needs.
Nothing pleases you more than digits and worshipping from our feelings. Thank you.

You fight for freedom/changes
You stand for rightness/justice
And I feel so miserable
In your cynic game

Maybe it was an honest deed
Before you turned into this spawn
Maybe you'll give me a bit of your greatness
I'm begging. I'm your servant.

Have you ever seen us?
Have you ever cared?

OUT THERE

A stranger came with no surprise
And she asked if you were a real swan
She didn't swim. You spread away that lie
Out there, out there.

Then she crashed into the deep sea
And I couldn't grab her hand
A message's dream, and we made our choices
Up there, up there.

I'll find you in the cosmos borders
I'll wash your soiled heart
Will you remember who we once were out there, out there.

They tossed your symphony, a better version of you and me
The door we never should've crossed
They switched our colors, who cares if we really exist?
Down here, down here

I'll find you in cosmic forests
I'll wash your muddy heart
A rainbow in white, a rainbow in black / I'll stay forever before your eyes
Down there, down here / Out there, out there.

My shadows remain, my heart flies, my existence prevails.
